Title: ORDER & CHAOS

Author: KRM

Many moons ago these two shields one of Order and one of Chaos were proud symbols of achievement and accomplishment to many a citizen of Britannia.
For those whom carried these shields once upon a time, were as of gods,
the powerful elite
defending a cause and fighting the good fight that each side felt that they must do, to survive and win o'er the other.
No citizenry was ever allowed to carry, nor bear these shields ever,
unless they themselves
were part of the armies of Order or Chaos. The towns and countrysides were filled with the battle crys and the sounds of metal
hitting metal, or spells against spells of tank mages or warriors filling the countryside with the echoing sounds of battle.
Twas an honor to be a part of these two fighting forces each with their own agenda and cause for each side had tradition and symbolism and a cause to fight
FOR. Tis long gone now,

but the memory of the sights and sounds of Order fighting Chaos and Chaos fighting Order doth not leave the memory of the ancient ones of Britannia. Many a child whom was born was very proud of their parents
Order or Chaos or
yesteryear remains a
faint fond memory for many a die hard battle
weary elder citizen of Britannia. Nowadays any
are NOT members of Order nor Chaos and do not even know
what each*army* once
stood for no do they remember the glory of
either side.
 These shields of Order
and Chaos still speak volumes about their wonderous past.. can ye hear these shields hauntingly shoutout their glorious past battle crys?
